Bowls by Eng Tow

Eng Tow created this work using cloth and thread. Observe how she uses shadows and lines to make the forms appear convex or concave. A convex shape curves outward like the back of a spoon, whilst a concave shape caves inward like the front face of a spoon.

Try drawing a bowl you can find at home using shadows and lines.

Eng Tow is known for art made with textiles. She once said, "When you make a mark, that's art, making a mark that is you, at the moment in time."

Eng Tow. Bowls. 1979. Cloth and thread, 62.5 x 61.5 cm (each). Collection of National Gallery Singapore.

Tetrahedron-tetrahedron Interpenetration by Han Sai Por

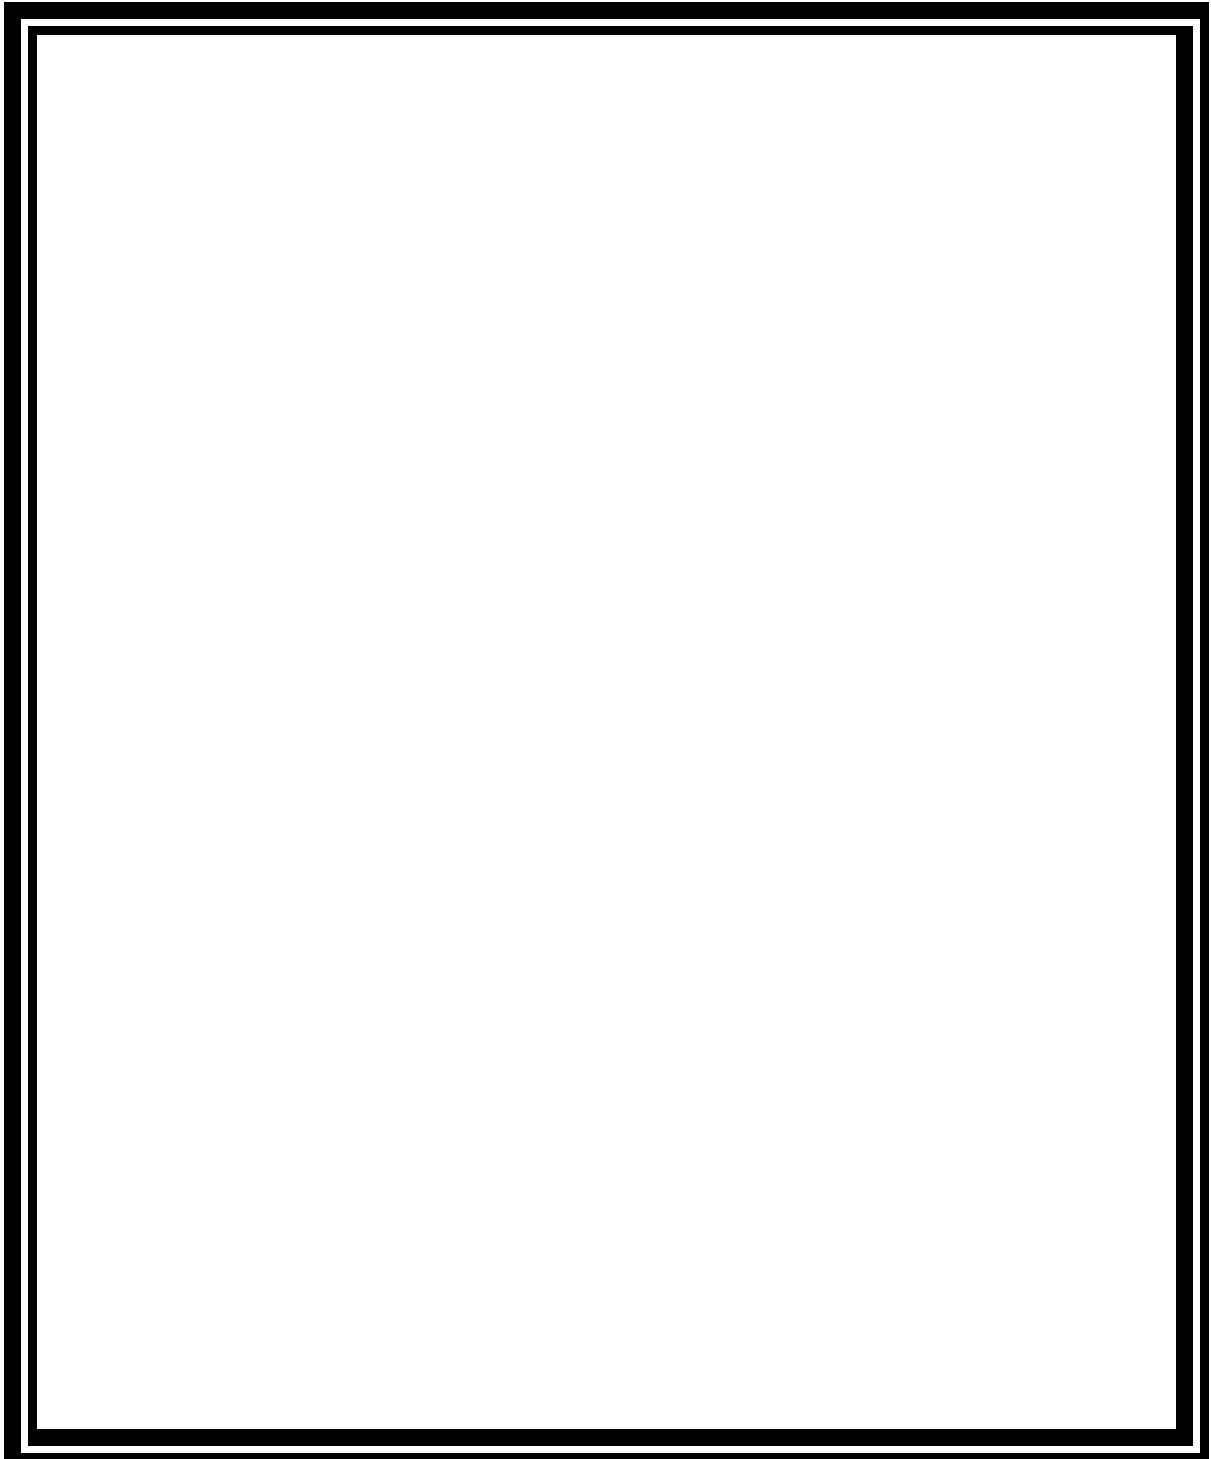

The shape below is a tetrahedron. It is made up of 4 triangles, 6 straight edges and 4 points.

Han Sai Por created a sculpture using many tetrahedrons. Can you create a sculpture of your own using tetrahedrons too?

Han Sai Por is known for her sculptures, many of which can be found in public spaces around Singapore. The next time you see a sculpture, find out if it was created by Han Sai Por!
